

Dear Parents and Students,

As you know, we here at the school are keen to establish leading-edge standards in dealing with environmental issues. We are not just expressing concern; that's not good enough. We are setting targets, detailing benchmarks and striving to be carbon neutral as an institution by 2011.

While there is broad agreement in the school community about remodeling our activities in such a way as to reduce the impact we have on the planet, there is nevertheless some reluctance or incapacity to act individually. Last week three different elective groups were asked to report on what they had done PERSONALLY by way of bringing about change. The following evidence speaks for itself. It is a sad comment on our commitment to the serious problems we face, that some of us are still avoiding the issue. If we cannot address the question of personal responsibility for change, what hope can we offer our young?

It is perhaps time some of us had a good, long, hard look at ourselves.

I hope to see many of you at the Choral Recital on the 15th.

Yrs,

Dougal Entendre,
